Remember me when I am gone away,
Gone far away into the silent land;
When you can no more hold me by the hand,
Nor I half turn to go, yet turning stay.
Remember me when no more, day by day,
You tell me of the future that you planned:
Only remember me; you understand
It will be late to counsel then or pray.
Yet if you should forget me for a while
And afterwards remember, do not grieve:
For if the darkness and corruption leave
A vestige of the thoughts that once I had,
Better by far you should forget and smile
Than to remember and be sad.

Smith Achieved New Ideas For School

The past year was quite a busy one for Mr. J.E. Smith. As superintendent, his responsibilities included hiring teachers, filling our reports, and a daily routine of meetings and conferences. Mr. Smith, often referred to as the core of the Prescott School System, worked to achieve new and better ideas on running the schools.

A new responsibility added this year was reviewing the plans of the new high school and seeing that each phase was carried out quickly and efficiently. Mr. Smith showed the enthusiasm to launch these activities and programs to improve PHS.

Mrs. Josephine Carrington kept Mr. Smith's balance sheets up to date.

Mr. Smith was kept busy checking over reports, bills, and other finances of the school district.

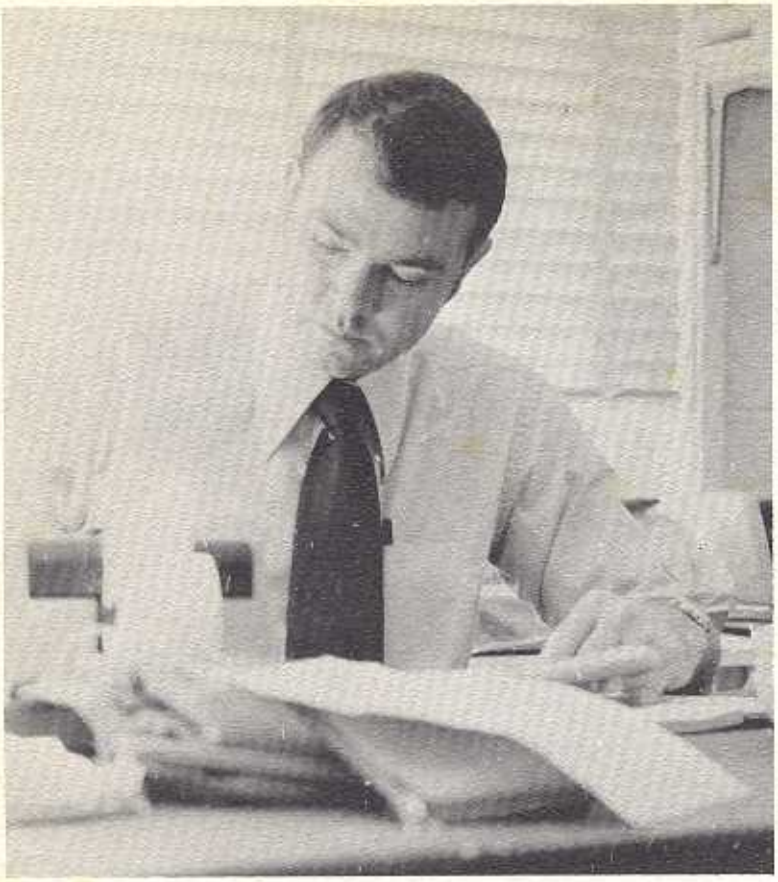
Filling out checks for new equipment for the school and other paper work took part of Mr. Shirron's time.

Serving as the assistant superintendent's secretary, Mrs. Miriam Purtle kept Mr. Shirron informed of his day's activities.

New Position Filled

By Mr. Bill Shirron

As the size and number of students at PHS increased, new jobs were made available in order to keep the school running efficiently. One of these new jobs was assistant superintendent, filled by Mr. Bill Shirron. Mr. Shirron's job required lots of extra time and patience. He was busy most of the day going to school meetings, helping Mr. Smith, and working on ideas for the new school.



Much concentration was needed to help Mr. Kirby balance the school budget each month.

All athletic events were attended by Mr. Kirby, not only because of his job, but because of his enjoyment of sports and being with people.

New Principal Faced With Many Problems

Many changes were made at Prescott High School this year, one of them being principal. The first year on a new job can be the most trying and discouraging, but Mr. Ted Kirby took advantage of his position.

A busy schedule kept Mr. Kirby on the run and leisure time seemed almost impossible. There were meetings to attend, checks to be approved, and discipline to be maintained.

Typing out the schedules for the day was part of Mrs. Nancy Burke's job.

The School Board consisted of Mr. Jim Wingfield, Mr. R.D. O'Keefe, Mr. Bob Reynolds, Mr. Bill Gordon, and Mr. B.A. Delamar.

Being a member of the School Board was only a spare time job for Mr. B.A. Delamar. He also enjoyed the challenges of working at his regular job.

School Board

Devoted Spare Time

The School Board consisted of five dedicated men who took time out from their own busy occupations to serve as members of the board. Regular monthly meetings included discussing ideas about the new school, financing personnel, approving new teachers, setting salaries for the teachers, and reviewing checks for the district. These men were important factors in running the Prescott School System.

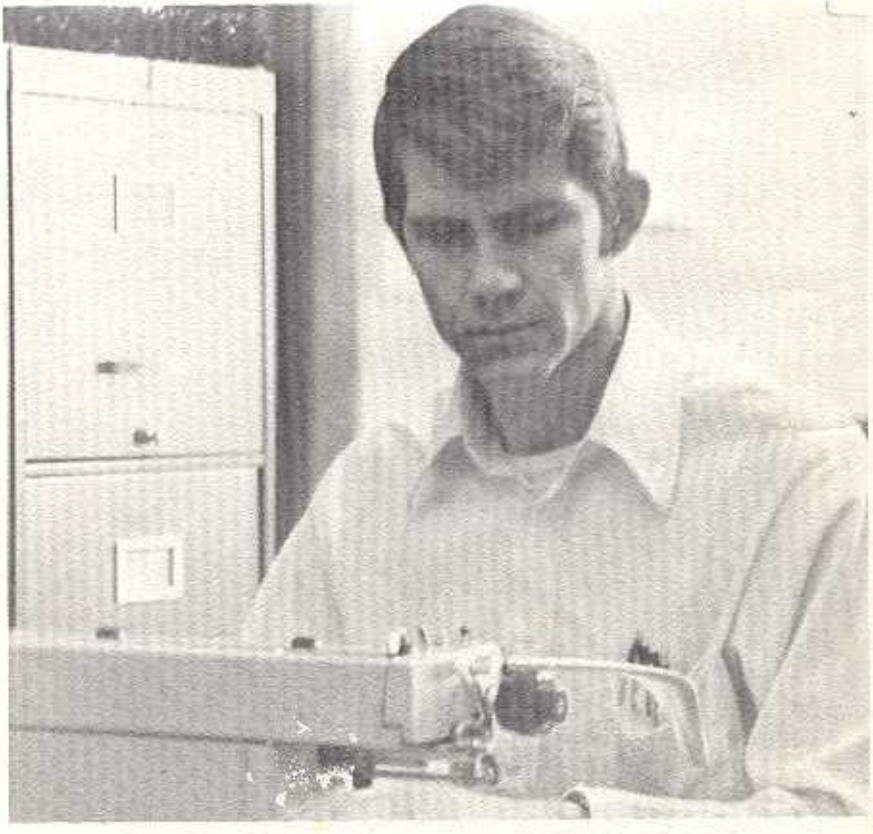
Donald Crane, New Counselor

Mr. Donald Crane served as guidance counselor helping the students of Prescott High School as they chose subjects that would better serve them in the future. He had the responsibility of giving national tests to the students as well as interpreting the test scores and recording them on the students' permanent records.

Besides conducting the national tests, Mr. Crane also offered advice to the graduating seniors and gave them any information on colleges they might happen to need. He did an excellent job in helping many students solve problems concerning school, families, and just life in general.

Mr. Crane's secretary, Mrs. Charlene Koger, added new students to the evergrowing book of permanent records.

Mr. Donald Crane performed his duties with great efficiency during his first year of serving as guidance counselor.



As counselor, Mr. Crane found typing to be one of his duties, for it was necessary to keep information on all students at PHS.

Two New Members Joined PHS Faculty

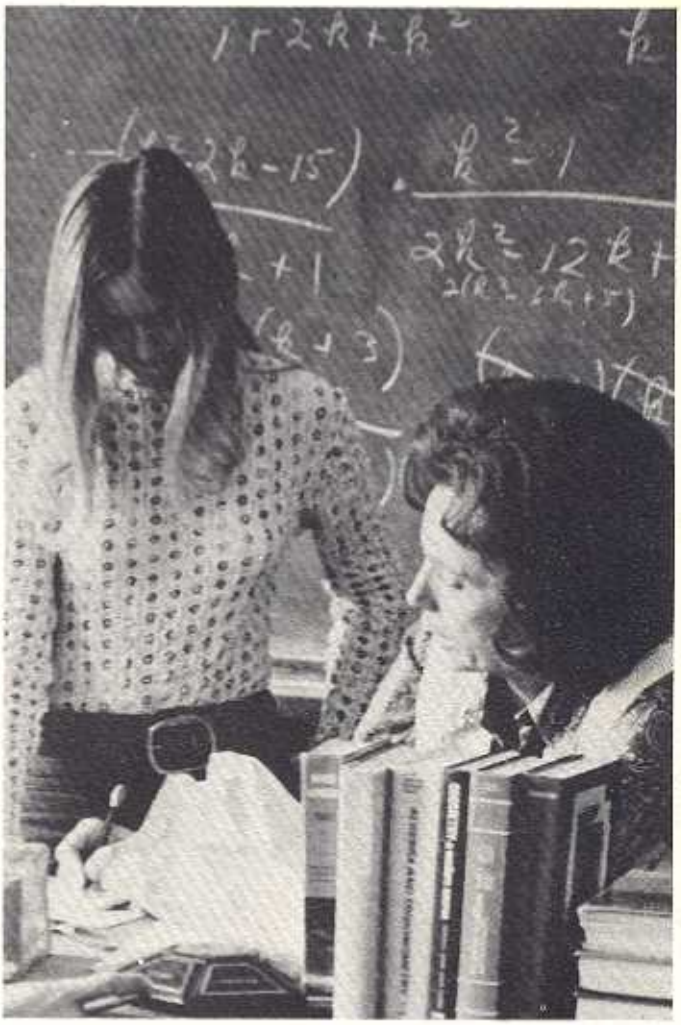
The PHS faculty was increased by two this year to make a total of twenty-seven outstanding educators.

Several of the faculty members were sponsors and advisors to activities outside of the classroom, as well as performing the ordinary duties of a busy teacher.

In addition to teaching five classes a day, teachers were required the extra duty of supervising the halls in the morning and at noon, attending faculty meetings, and grading homework and exam papers.

Mrs. Betty Stinson pointed out some important places on the world map to her American History students. Mrs. Stinson also taught economics fifth period.

A new course in Home Economics was taught by Mrs. Marcia Johnson. Senior girls were offered child development and found it to be an interesting course.



Algebra II problems were not always easy to understand by some students, so Mrs. Ruth Perry allowed time during her classes for questions.

Coach George Odom watched over practice on a cold day as the Wolves prepared for the state play-offs.

Band director, Mr. David Young, lead the Marching Curley Wolves to a successful marching and concert season.

Mrs. Vera Austin explained a difficult problem to Randolph Vanhook, a junior, during a general math class.

Business math and algebra I were the courses taught by Mrs. Ruth Buchanan.

Coach Larry Meeks, junior football coach, watched on as the Cubs worked to win an important game.

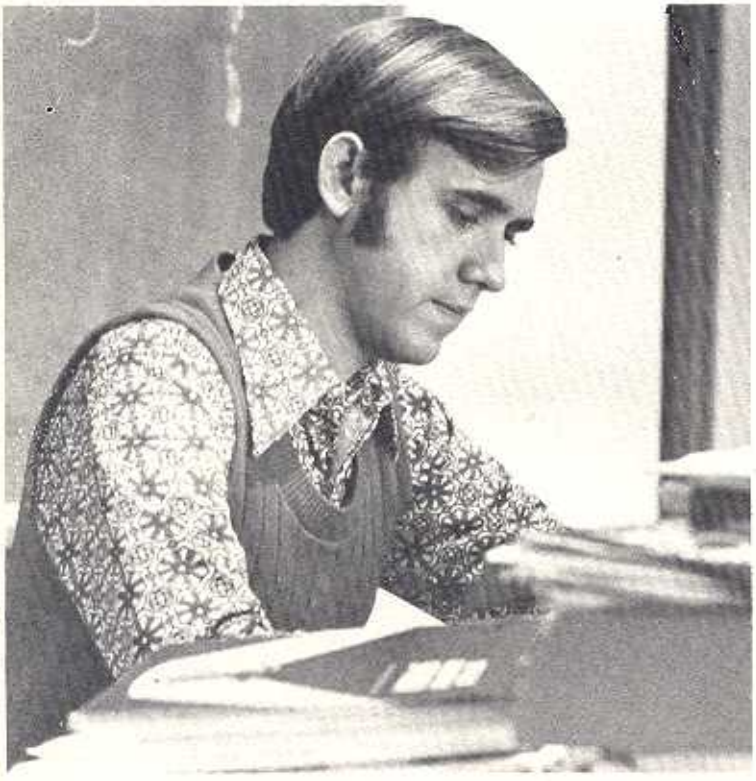
Mr. Johnny Hamilton, general and physical science instructor, wrote formulas on the overhead projector which made it easier for his students to learn.

Mrs. Queen Ester Wilson came over from her duties at Middle School to teach a class of home economics.

With the aid of a willing student, Mrs. Ida Purtle graded her biology students' tests. Mrs. Purtle also taught chemistry.

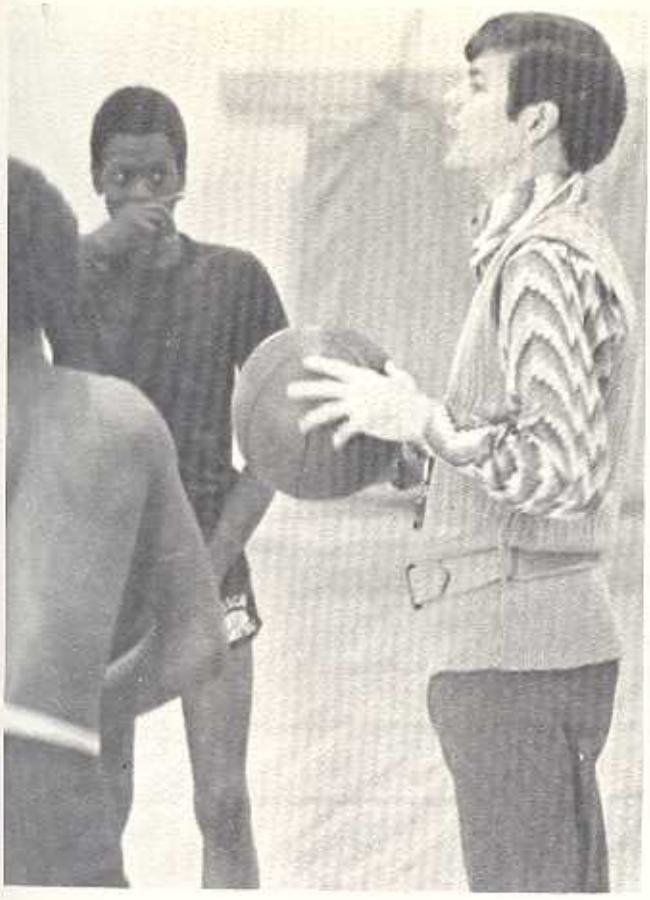
Mrs. Martha Craig graded each paper her students turned in so she could determine their strong and weak points.

Mrs. Louise Robey explained an interesting aspect of reading to a student.



English IV and speech, both of which required extra reading and study, were taught by Mr. Paul Shaver.

Mrs. Dorothy Smith made learning civics, Arkansas history, and world history more interesting by making up games concerning important facts.



Coach, Roy Karr, junior and senior boys' basketball coach, often officiated intramural games at lunch.

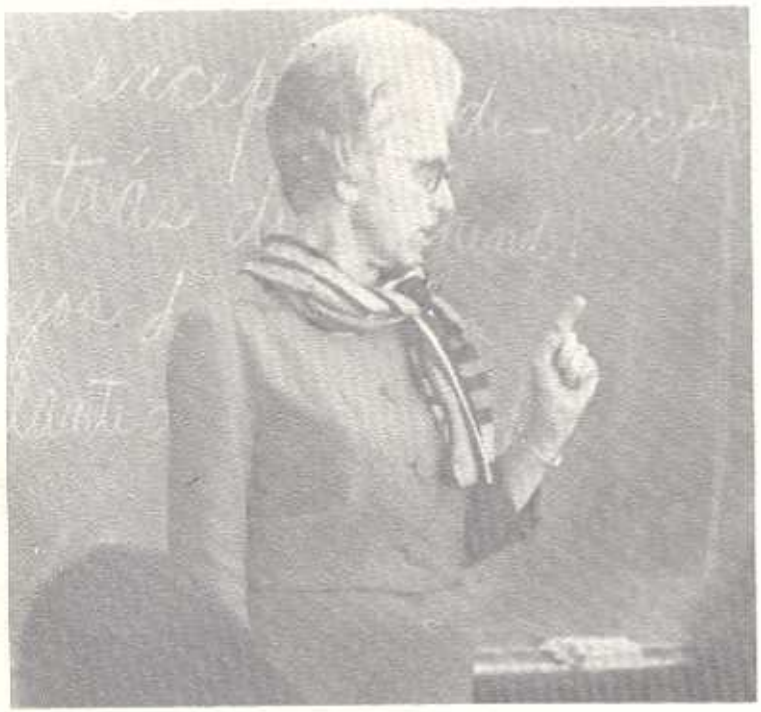
The Curley Wolves' defense was the result of a lot of hard work and planning on the part of Coach Eddie Jackson.

Mrs. Dorothy Odom, English I teacher, listened carefully to her students as they went over their assignments.

One of the new teachers to join the PHS faculty was Miss Colleen Ferguson. She taught Speech I and was advisor to the WOLF TRAIL and DYNAMO staffs.

The Agri boys found welding to be interesting and fun too. Welding and shop were both taught by Mr. Sidney Forrester.

Miss Shirley Anderson had a full schedule teaching all of the art classes. Miss Anderson also sponsored the pep squad and senior cheerleaders.



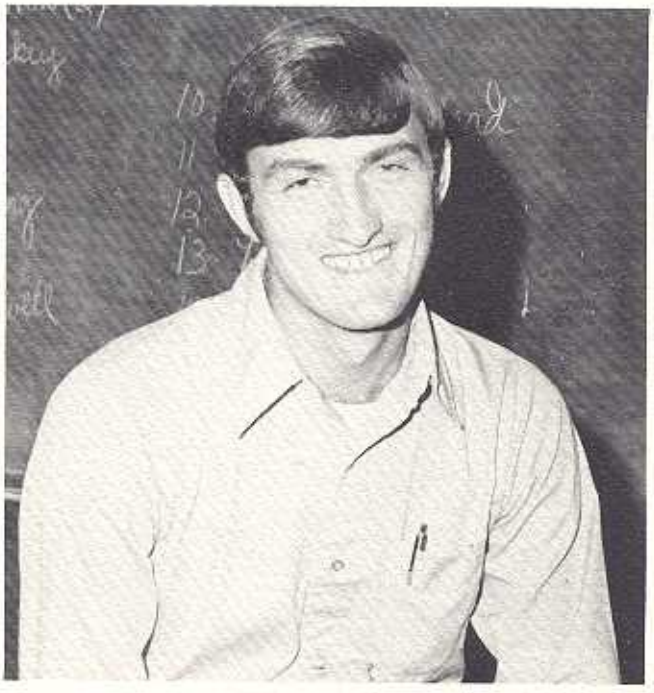
Latin and Spanish were the foreign languages taught by Mrs. Nellie Rea Gordon. Mrs. Gordon also taught English IV.

Mrs. Becky McGarr, one of the new teachers at PHS, coached the junior and senior girls' basketball teams and taught all girls' P.E. classes.

The plans for the new school pleased Mrs. Allene Spencer, school librarian, since they included an enlargement of the library.

Mrs. Shelia Virden explained to her junior English students the purpose of using correct grammar.

Coach Charles Montgomery, offensive coach for the Curley Wolves, observed the team as they ran through a new play.



Mr. Doyle Malcolm, English I teacher, stressed to his students that reading books helped to expand their knowledge of the English language.

The Student Council, an elected group of students representing each home room, is a channel of cooperation between the faculty and the student body. The Council had many extra activities this year along with being president of the Southwest District of Student Councils of Arkansas.

The responsibilities of the Council included presiding over all school assemblies, conducting school elections, and operating the student lounge. The Council also decorated the Prescott High School's float entry in the Nevada County Fair Parade.

NHS Represented Worthy Leadership

The purposes of the National Honor Society were to create enthusiasm for scholarship, stimulate desire to render service, promote worthy leadership, and encourage character in the students of Prescott High School.

NHS was responsible for many projects, not only for the school, but also for the community. The bookstore, operated by members of the organization, provided a place for students to purchase necessary school supplies. A foreign child was sponsored with this money. The NHS also picked up trash on the football field after each home game.

Members of the National Honor Society worked hard in making the 1972-73 school year a good one.

FHA Reached Goal Of $350 On Project

FHA worked hard to reach their $350 goal by selling stationery for a fund-raising project. They used the money that was made to buy new furniture for the Home Economics Cottage.

On October 19th, forty-five members traveled to Henderson State College in Arkadelphia for the Federation XVI meeting. Federation president, Angela Payne, presided over the meeting. Angela had attended a workshop at HSC in July to plan for the meeting.

Quill And Scroll Had New Advisor

Miss Colleen Ferguson took the job of advisor to the Quill and Scroll this year. She was a graduate of Ouachita Baptist University and majored in speech and English. She also advised the Wolf Trail and Dynamo staffs.

Quill and Scroll is an honorary club consisting of juniors and seniors who have had one semester in a journalism course. One of their money-making projects was to sponsor the Miss PHS Pageant held in the spring.

Pins were ordered in March for seven new members. The pins were a symbol of achievement to all who wore them.

Anne Morehead, president, attempted to explain the qualifications needed for membership to the juniors interested in the Quill and Scroll.

Editor Vicki Henry devoted every spare moment of her time to each issue of the Dynamo and getting it published.

Dynamo Known As Informative Paper

With the guidance of this year's editor, Vicki Henry, the 1972-73 Dynamo staff produced an informative paper read by many students.

Special articles such as "Don't Pick Up the Habit", "Skip the Trouble", and "Guess What?" were found in the Dynamo along with the usual articles. The Senior Spotlight, Wolf Howls, and sports articles, written by reporters Karen Wesson, Dwain East, and Scott Pollock, were in every monthly issue.

Other reporters for the Dynamo included Patsy Laws, Toni Colten, Pam Williams, Pett Nedd, Kathy Johnson, and Nancy Cornelius. Debbie Butler served as business manager for the paper. The entire staff strove together to create a paper that would be enjoyed by the teachers as well as the students.

Wolf Trail Staff Met All Deadlines

To the Wolf Trail staff, the word deadline became an everyday term. A deadline to them meant long hours of hard work and total confusion.

At the beginning of the year, the staff realized that things would be different than before. A tighter schedule had to be kept and pressures seemed almost too great at times. Also, a new theme was to be followed, quality over quantity, because the entire layout of the book had to be cut down. But with the help of the new advisor, Miss Colleen Ferguson, all deadlines were met with as little confusion as possible.

Responsibilities of each member included selling ads to their assigned businesses, helping with the yearbook sales, and completing their assignments on time, even if it meant overtime work. The staff tried to put together a book full of memories and capture the highlights of the year 1972-73.

Many decisions had to be made by Anne Morehead, editor, concerning page positions, cover design, and the overall layout of the Wolf Trail.

A close game brought anxiety and worried faces to the spirited cheerleaders.

Senior Cheerleaders Aroused Wolf Spirit

After a summer of long daily practices, the 1972-73 Prescott Curley Wolf cheerleaders boosted "Wolf Spirit" during football season and on through the state championship. After football season, the cheerleaders continued to lead the Wolves through a successful basketball and track season.

During the summer, the cheerleaders held a walkathon to raise money in order to buy new uniforms and pay their way to camp. They also sold spirit ribbons each week and pickles during the activity periods at lunch.

Along with the pep club, the cheerleaders helped to make this year one that will be well remembered.

Pep Club Consisted Of Twenty-two Girls

The Pep Club consisted of twenty-two spirited girls who yelled for the Wolves through victories and defeats.

During practices, they worked on making funnels for the Wolves to run through at the football games. They also practiced on their routines and new cheers taught by the cheerleaders.

The Pep Club had a car-wash and sold "cheer-chiefs" to raise money for uniforms and new shakers.

Sponsors for the club were Mrs. Dorothy Smith and Miss Colleen Ferguson. The captain was Irene Fort and the co-captain was Debbie Ammons.

Irene Fort, captain, planned the routines to be used at each football game.

Kim Foster, Becky Baker, and Connie Ferguson waited impatiently to board the bus to go with the junior boys to the state basketball tournament.

Jr. Cheerleaders Chosen By Freshmen

The eight junior cheerleaders were chosen at the beginning of the school year by the freshmen in the high school gym. To raise money, the cheerleaders baked cakes, cookies, and pies and sold them at one of the home games. Twenty-six dollars was raised from this project to help pay for their new winter uniforms.

Pep rallies were held in the middle school gym each Thursday in order that the seventh and eighth grades could join in with the freshmen to kindle spirit for the Curley Cubs before a game. Colorful signs made by the junior cheerleaders added to the spirit lingering in the air.

Roll Call: Connie Ferguson, Sheila Ratcliff, Barbara Steed, Becky Holder, Becky Baker, Kim Foster, Bonnie Laws, and Prissy Ford.

Band Performed At Each Football Game

The Marching Curley Wolves were an added highlight to each half-time show during football season. They performed precision marching drills and played popular tunes to which the majorettes entertained spectators with their twirling routines.

For a money-making project, members of the band sold scented candles during the Christmas holidays. With the money made, they bought two new baritones and other needed equipment.

After marching season came concert season and long hours of preparation for the region festival and other concerts such as the pop concert held in the spring. The 1972-73 Curley Wolf band proved to be as fine a concert band as they were a marching band.

Paula Cockman, Debbie Stewart, and Sharman Fore concentrated on a flute solo during the annual Christmas concert.

Cold weather proved to be no obstacle to the Marching Curley Wolves as they waited for the busser to ring signaling the beginning of half-time.

Spirit was kept high even through cold weather prevailed during the semi-finals against Greenwood at Hot Springs.

The annual Christmas concert was looked forward to as a highlight of the Christmas season.

Dan Fincher, a baritone saxophone player, was one of the three band members from Prescott to make the All-Region Band.

Popular tunes and marches were enjoyed at each football game by the spectators as well as the band members.

The 1972-73 majorettes were Sherry Butler, Wendy Wren, Candi Harvey, Suzanne Suitor, Donna Avery, Sandra Virden, Donna Daniel, drum majorette, and Angela Payne, feature twirler.

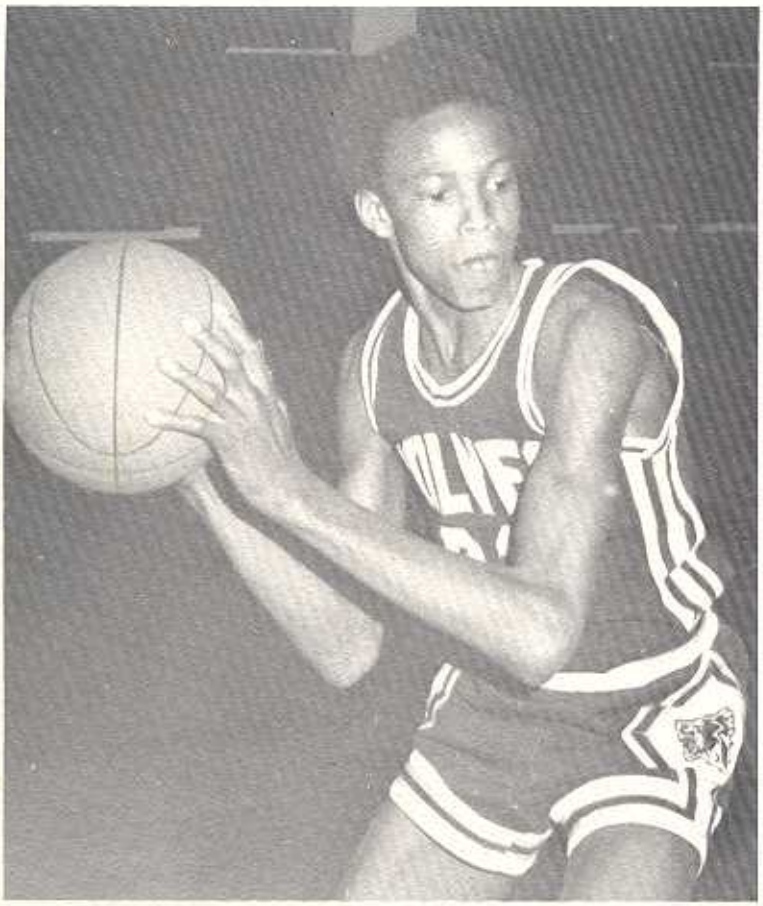
Varsity Lettermen Joined "P" Club

The "P" Club consisted of forty-two boys who had lettered in football, basketball, or other varsity sport.

In October, the club sponsored a "Powder Puff" football game in which the freshmen and sophomore girls competed against the junior and senior girls. The money raised helped to pay for the band, "Magic Sounds", that played at the homecoming dance which was also sponsored by the club.

Prospective members were required to go through initiation before becoming members. For a week they acted as "slaves" to the members already in the club and performed many duties.

Coach Eddie Jackson was sponsor of the Lettermen's Club and Timmy Ashbrook served as president.



Athletics

Summer Practice Prepared State Champions

Prospective Curley Wolves trained twice a day during the latter part of the summer to prepare themselves for the fall football season. Of the forty football participants, thirteen of them were seniors.

The opening games of the season were played in hot, muggy weather and rain, but the Wolves managed to pull through with amazing victories.

Managers for the team were Scott Bright, Scotty Bryson, Steve Crow, and Dwayne Daniels. The managers kept charts of the games, washed towels, and helped repair and distribute equipment.

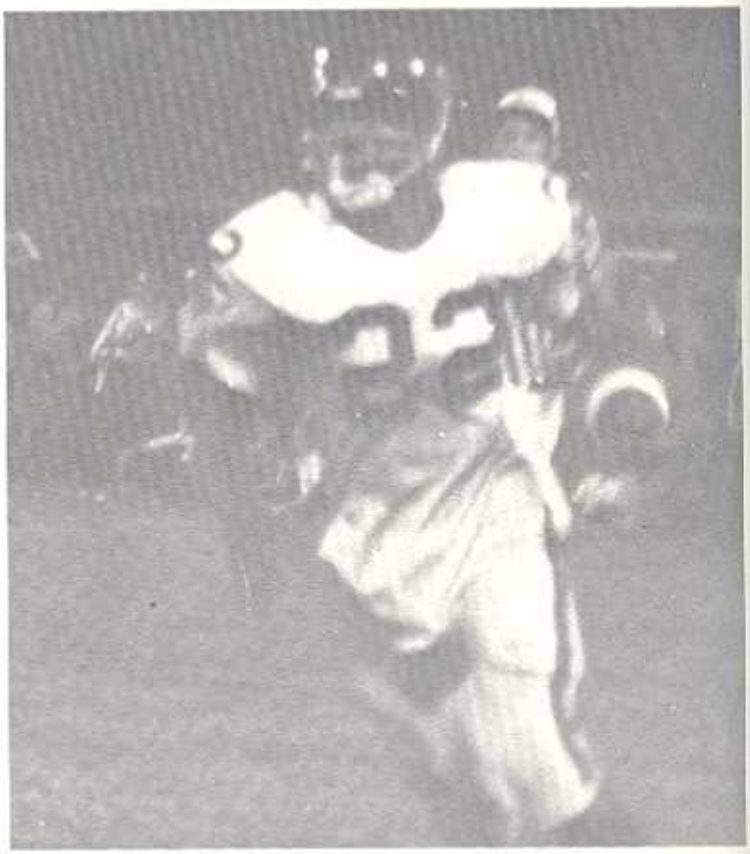
The team was coached by Coach Charles Montgomery, Eddie Jackson, and George Odom.

The Wolves chose Doug Guthrie, Ronnie Johnson, and Terry Spearman to represent them as their captains.

All-District players chosen from the Prescott team were seniors Timmy Ashbrook, Danny Ellis, Doug Guthrie, Ronnie Johnson, Terry Spearman, and juniors Wayne Gillard, James Langston, and Randolph Vanhook. Terry Spearman was chosen outstanding back in the district. All-State players were Ronnie Johnson, Terry Spearman, and James Langston.

War Memorial Stadium in Little Rock was the scene for the finals of the Class "A" play-offs. School and community spirit helped the Wolves bring home a 26-24 victory over the Clarendon Lions. This was the first state title Prescott has ever received for playing football.

Ronnie Johnson, quarterback, found an open receiver and passed the football before his opponent could prevent it.



Terry Spearman sprinted past several Gurdon defenders to make the first down.

During the state finals at War Memorial in Little Rock, James Langston's try for the point after was unsuccessful.

Seniors Changed Style Of Rings

The seniors of 1973 changed tradition by ordering their senior rings in different styles. They no longer ordered one standard ring, they had a choice between their birthstone or a regular maroon stone, a floating wolf under the stone, or a "P" encrusted on top of the stone.

There were ninety-two graduating seniors to leave Prescott High School. In leaving PHS the seniors of '73 leave behind twelve long years of memories, fun, laughter, tears, and security.

The seniors had three valedictorians and many members of the class achieved honors.

Kris Wesson paused momentarily from her work assisting Mrs. Purtle to think about her plans for the future.

Seniors Randy Clifton and Calvin Flemons found activity period a good time to relax from their studies.

Class officers for the seniors of '73 were Vicki Henry, treasurer; Scott Smyth, president; Sammy Graham, vice-president; Nancy Cornelius, secretary.

Juniors Coped With Magazine Sales

Along with being a junior came many activities and problems. One of the problems that arose was the annual magazine sales. A goal of $3,000 was set, but the class only reached around $2,000, which was about the average amount received from previous sales.

Other projects the juniors participated in were the junior play and the prom presented in honor of the seniors. Both of these events were held in the spring.

To many juniors, this year was the busiest of their past high school years. But the responsibilities and problems were soon overcome by the anxiety of knowing that soon they would become seniors— seniors of 74.

Class favorites chosen by the juniors this year were Patsy Laws, Joey Shaver, Jerry Flemons, and Suzanne Suitor.

Sophomores Lead Way

For New Freshmen

Working their way towards upperclassmen, the Sophomores set the example of high school life for the Freshmen. New responsibilities and activities were opened up for the Sophomores, such as participating in senior sports and serving as waiters and waitresses at the prom.

President Sherry Butler helped with the annual Christmas assembly that is traditional with the Sophomore class. The play, "Charlie Brown's Christmas", brought humor and joy to the students the day before the long-awaited Christmas vacation.

With only two years of high school left, the Sophomores experienced a year of growth in mind and spirit.

Serving as class officers for the Sophomores were Bev Baker, Secretary; Debbie Stewart, reporter; Herbert Adams, vice-president; Sherry Butler, president.

Freshmen Came As Confused Students

The freshmen came to Prescott High as a group of confused students, which is typical of most freshmen. But, as the year progressed they grew accustomed to the flurries of high school life and became a part of PHS.

Two pep rallies each week kept the freshmen quite busy during football season. On Thursdays they attended the Cubs' pep rally at Middle School and on Friday they participated in the senior pep rally for the Wolves.

High school life brought many new privileges to the freshmen. They learned about student government by electing their classmates to represent them in the Student Council.

Activities

Queen Donna Avery, escorted by Richard McGough and Steve Crow, followed Jeana Cearley, flower girl, and Roger Ford, crown bearer, to her place on the sidelines.

Vicki Henry, one of the two girls chosen by the football team to represent the senior class, was escorted by Timmy Ashbrook and Sammy Graham.

Demetria Latin, junior maid, was escorted by Tommy Johnson and Henry Butler.

Donna Avery Crowned Homecoming Queen

A chilly Friday night, November 3, set the scene for the 1972 homecoming festivities. During a pre-game ceremony, Queen Donna Avery and her court were honored before an excited capacity crowd. Little Miss Jeana Cearley and Roger Ford were flower girl and crown bearer.

The royalty held a reception in the Home Economics Cottage after the game. Punch, cookies, and miniature sandwiches were served to many adults as well as students.

Following the reception, Prescott High School students enjoyed a homecoming dance in the high school cafeteria. The dance was sponsored by the Prescott Lettermen's Club.

Juniors Presented "Cheaper By The Dozen"

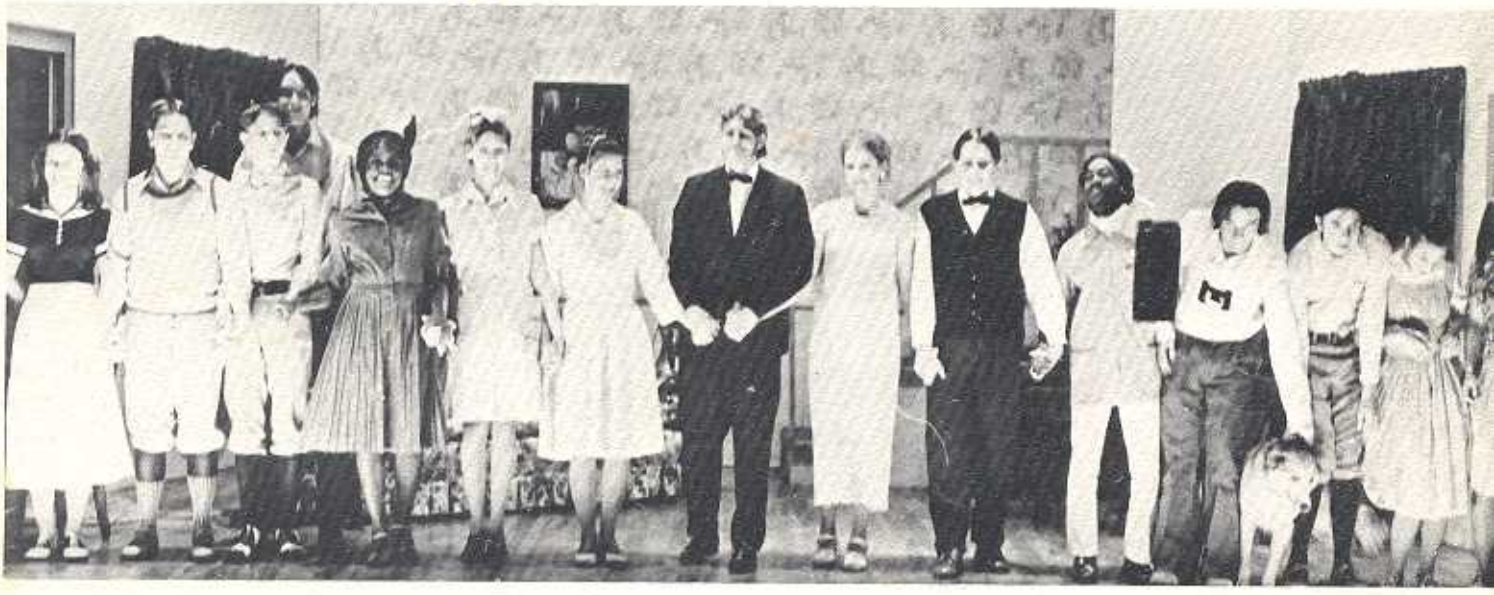
The juniors presented "Cheaper by the Dozen," a three act comedy play. The directors were Mrs. Sheila Virden and Mr. Paul Shaver. Mr. Crane designed the set. In addition to the sixteen members of the play cast were the prompters, Gay Campbell and Kathy Johnson, and the technical directors, Scotty Bryson and Kathryn Hunter.

There was an afternoon performance for the students and an evening performance for the public on March 23, 1973. Both times the auditorium was filled to capacity. The play, a money-making project to raise funds for the Junior-Senior Prom, cleared over three hundred dollars.

Commenting on Mrs. Gilbreth's daughter, Anne, Miss Brill, a hateful school teacher played by Pet Nedd, told Mrs. Gilbreth, Melinda Hooker, that she did not approve of anyone trying to graduate earlier than the rest of his class.

Ernestine, portrayed by Pam Cottingham, and Frank, played by Jack Tomlin, reminisced about their family life when their father was alive and the events leading up to his death.

Dr. Burton, Tony Meeks, warned Mr. Gilbreth, depicted by Martin Jameson, that he would die soon, but Mr. Gilbreth insisted that he was too busy to die.



The cast consisted of Sheila Green, Roy Steed, Aubrey Lee, Cole Wingfield, Pet Nedd, Pam Williams, Pam Cottingham, Martin Jameson, Melinda Hooker, Jack Tomlin, Tony Meeks, Hilton McDonald, Brady, Hal Cummings, Suzanne Suitor, Paricia Buford, and Vanessa Ward.

Mrs. Gilbreth, Melinda Hooker, rebuked Anne, portrayed by Vanessa Ward, because she had come home late and couldn't take her examination with the other children.

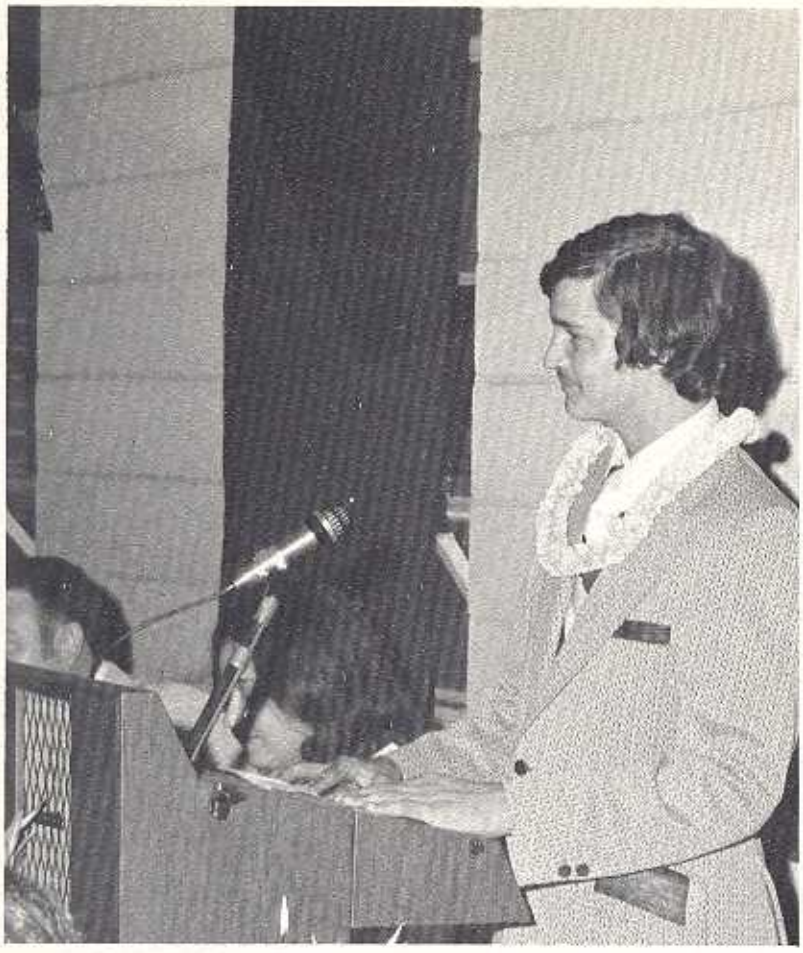
"Hawaiian Paradise" Theme Of Jr.-Sr. Prom

Colorful leis, tropical fruit, and exotic floating gardens set the scene for the 1973 Junior-Senior Prom, "Hawaiian Paradise", held in the Elementary Cafetorium on May 4, 1973. Serving as waiters and waitresses for the prom were Donna Ghormley, Deborah Tidwell, Debbie Stewart, Tony Spearman, and Scott Pollock. After a banquet honoring the seniors and hosted by Master of Ceremonies Jack Tomlin, juniors, seniors, and their dates enjoyed dancing to the music of Grimes Fox, a band from Amity, Arkansas. Afterwards, a midnight movie, "Butterflies Are Free," was specially presented for the couples which ended the exciting evening.

Excitement seemed to be floating in the air as the anxious students waited for the banquet to begin.

Senior Dennis Pruitt seemed to enjoy the food, catered by Mrs. E. E. Davis, that was served at the banquet.

Sponsored by SOUTHWEST ARKANSAS EQUIPMENT CO. and HOUSE OF IVEY



Senior class president Scott Smyth presented a speech thanking the juniors for the prom.

Colorful leis were presented to Kathy Pearson and her date as they entered the "Hawaiian Paradise".

Pam Stockton

Crowned Fair Queen

Of the twenty contestants in the Nevada County Fair Queen Pageant, Pam Stockton, a junior at Prescott High School, captured the crown. She was given her crown by Vicki Henry, the reigning queen.

Suzanne Suitor, a junior at PHS, was selected first runner-up and also represented PHS. Wanda Box, a senior at PHS, was selected second runner-up. Gail Glass from Cale High School was chosen Miss Congeniality by the girls.

The contestants were judged on beauty, poise, and intelligence. They all worked very hard during the rehearsals in order to make that night one they would always remember.

Pam Stockton paused for a moment from the excitement of being crowned Nevada County Fair Queen to pose for a picture.

Winners of the pageant included Suzanne Suitor, first runner-up; Gail Glass, Miss Congeniality; Wanda Box, second runner-up; and Queen Pam Stockton.

Anne Morehead Crowned Miss PHS

Anne Morehead, 1973 Miss PHS, competed for this title along with seventeen other Prescott High School students in the fourth annual Miss PHS Beauty Pageant held Saturday evening, April 28th. The girls were judged in talent, street clothes, and evening gown competition.

The theme of the pageant was "This Is My Country", which was carried out in the production number performed at the beginning of the program by all eighteen contestants. The stage setting consisted of purple mountain tops rising above green topped pines.

The 1973 Miss PHS Pageant was sponsored by the Quill and Scroll and was directed by Mr. Don Mitchell along with Mr. Donald Crane, Mr. Paul Shaver, and Miss Colleen Ferguson.

Anne Morehead was chosen by the judges to reign as the 1973 Miss PHS on the basis of talent, street clothes, and evening gown competition.

A sophomore contestant, Candi Harvey, competed in the talent division with a guitar and vocal solo entitled "American Trilogy".

A pantomine and dance routine to "Sweet Nothings" was performed by Donna Avery, a senior contestant.

All smiles and tears were the only things to be seen from Anne Morehead as Wanda Box, the reigning queen, presented a bouquet of roses to the newly announced Miss PHS.

The 1973 Miss PHS contestants were Margaret Simmons, Lynne Shackleford, Lydia Anthony, Beverly Baker, Shirley Evans, Candi Harvey, Debbie Fontana, Donna Avery, Kris Wesson, Amanda Kirby, Anne Morehead, Sherry Butler, Melinda Hooker, Pett Nedd, Vicki Holliman, Pam Cottingham, Sherry Taylor, Kelly Cearley, and Cathy Reese.

Winners from the 1973 Miss PHS Pageant were Pett Nedd, third runner-up; Lynne Shackleford, second runner-up; Melinda Hooker, first runner-up; Anne Morehead, Miss PHS and Miss Congeniality.

Senior contestant Kris Wesson sang and played a flute solo to the song "People".

Surprise and shock were two emotions experienced by Anne Morehead when her name was announced as having been chosen Miss Congeniality.

Dress rehearsal was thought of by all eighteen contestants as a time of excitement and a very tiring experience.

Kris Wesson lead the seniors in singing the class song, "I Can See Clearly Now".

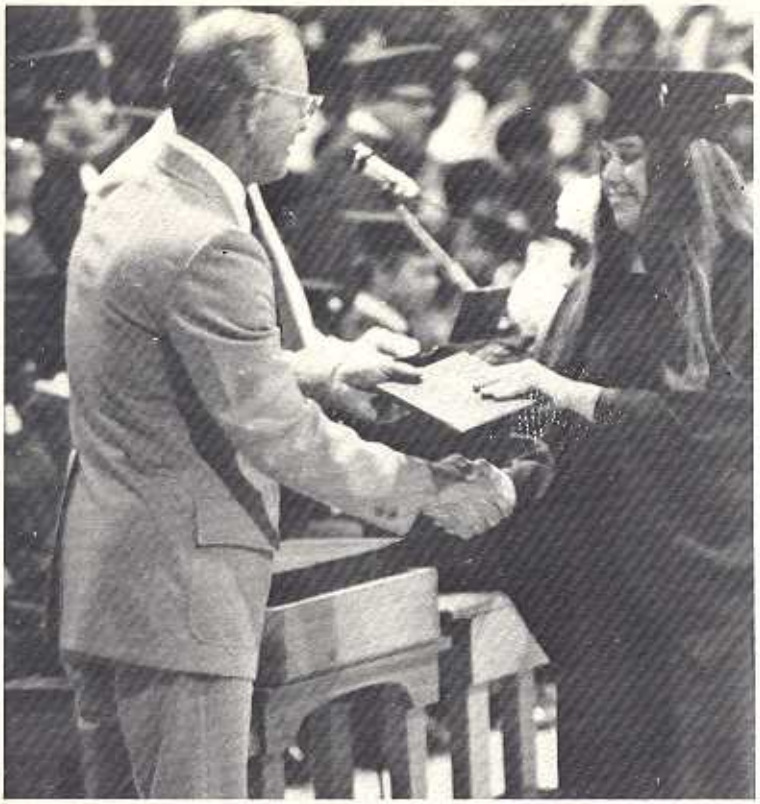
The class history, read by LaVetta Stinson and Linda Christopher, included each senior's name and the year he entered Prescott schools.

May 14 Set Aside As Senior Class Day

May 14, 1973 was a day full of memories for the seniors. Their last day at PHS was shared with the rest of the student body in enjoyment as they presented their class Day Program. Each senior took his seat as his name was called during the class history read by LaVetta Stinson and Linda Christopher. Joan Barton and Gwendolyn Gulley read the last wills and testimonies left to the juniors. Kris Wesson led the group in singing the 1973 class song, "I Can See Clearly Now", by Johnny Nash. The class poem, "Now We See", written by Sandy Graham, was also read by Sandy. Dwain East and Debbie Butler read the prophecies of the seniors which were enjoyed by all the students. To end the program, Donna Avery and Terry Spearman led the seniors, underclassmen, and guests in singing the Alma Mater.

The senior prophecies, read by Debbie Butler and Dwain East, were enjoyed by both students and visiting parents.

Tri-valedictorians Spoke During Commencement



Sandra Jean Morman, one of the ninety-one graduating seniors, received her diploma from Mr. Bill Gordon, President of the Prescott Board of Education.

Three students earned the honor of leading their class as valedictorian. They were Jeff Watson, Richard McGough, and Dan Fincher. All three had 4.00 averages. John McWilliams was the salutatorian.

Ninety-one seniors received their diplomas. They were presented to them by Mr. Ted Kirby, the principal, and Mr. Bill Gordon, the President of the Board of Education.

The processional, "Pomp and Circumstance," was played by Kelly Cearley, a junior, as the graduates filed in and took their seats.

Following the invocation by John McWilliams, Jeff Watson gave his speech entitled "Yesterday . . . Goals." After Kris Wesson played a selection from CAMELOT on her flute, Richard McGough delivered his speech, "Today . . . Decisions." Then, several girls, accompanied on the piano by Lavetta Stinson, sang "Graduation Day." When the girls returned to their seats, Dan Fincher gave the final valedictory address, "Tomorrow . . . Challenges."

Finally, the diplomas were presented. One by one, they were handed to the graduates. Then, for the last time as a group, the seniors stood and sang the Alma Mater.

One of the tri-valedictorians, Dan Fincher, addressed the audience during the graduation exercises. His speech was entitled "Tomorrow . . . Challenges."

Remember me when I am gone away,
Gone far away into the silent land;
When you can no more hold me by the hand,
Nor I half turn to go, yet turning stay.
Remember me when no more, day by day,
You tell me of the future that you planned:
Only remember me; you understand
It will be late to counsel then or pray.
Yet if you should forget me for a while
And afterwards remember, do not grieve:
For if the darkness and corruption leave
A vestige of the thoughts that once I had,
Better by far you should forget and smile
Than to remember and be sad.

Editor's Last Words

In closing the 1973 Wolf Trail, I would like to recognize a few people, for without their help I would never have made it through the year; Mr. Ted Kirby for all the times he let me miss school to work on the yearbook and Kathryn Hunter and Georgeann DuCharme for sticking with me to the last deadline after others had deserted.

A yearbook is not an easy thing to prepare as I found out and there were many times when the staff and myself were about ready to give up. But now that it is all over, I feel very much relieved of a heavy load. The staff and myself hope that the Wolf Trail '73 is one that will justify the great school year of 1972-73.
